Janat Gul

Janat Gul—arrested (b)(1) (b)(3) on June 2004 and transferred to US custody —was a key Taliban and Islamic Movement of Uzbekistan (IMU) facilitator. Various reporting indicates that Gul worked as a facilitator and courier for al-Qa'ida field commander and senior leader 'Abd al-Hadi al-Iraqi; at the same time, he was also aiding the IMU and former Taliban leadership. Since his detention, Gul has provided information that has been contained in some 70 intelligence reports about Taliban, IMU, and al-Qa'ida associates and members in Pakistan; however, 20 percent of those reports are statements of non-recognition of individuals. Moreover, during most of Gul's debriefings, he has sought to minimize his knowledge of extremist activities and has provided largely non-incriminating information about his involvement in their networks.

- Gul has provided information about his efforts to transfer a small number of Arab fighters to Shkai, Pakistan to join 'Abd al-Hadi al-Iraqi, his attempt to deliver a letter from the IMU leader to the Taliban leadership containing a request for SAM-7 missiles, and other efforts to facilitate the travel of mujahidin or procurement of materiel. He has provided few details, however, on the individuals he employed when facilitating the movement of Arab fighters and equipment.
